

The following text is about the account payable process. It starts with sending to the vendor accounting department.

When sending to the vendor accounting department is completed, you need to create a receiving report.

After creating a receiving report, gathering the receiving report needs to be done.

Once gathering the receiving report occurs, the process is split into 2 parallel branches: entering the invoice into the accounts payable account and storing in paid invoice file.

The process is now completed.