

The text below is about the account payable process. It begins when you file a copy of the internal records.

After filing a copy of internal records, a receiving report must be done.

When creating a receiving report occurs the next task should be doubling a three-way match and confirming all documents have been amended, they should be performed in parallel.

Once all pre-tasks have been executed, then you need to take the invoice into the accounts payable.

The process is now complete.
