

The text below is about the account payable process that begins when you email to the vendor's accounting department.

Once the sending to the vendor accounting department occurs, creating a receiving report should be made.

Once creation of a receiving report occurs, one or more of the following path should be executed: confirming all documents have been amended, reporting error to the relevant team member.

After confirming all documents have been amended, the double check should do a three-way match.

Afterwards, checking of dates to avoid penalty fees must be done.

The process is now complete.
