

The above text is about the account payable process, which starts with the sending of the letters to the receiving department.

Create a receipt report after sending to the receiving department.

Once a receiving report is created, one or more of the following paths should be executed: gathering the receiving report, doubling a three way match.

Then, the invoice should be entered in the payables account.

The process is now completed.