

The following description is about the account payable process. It begins when you send it to the receiving department.

After the sending to the receiving department, creating a receiving report needs to be done.

Whenever the creation of a receiving report is completed, a three-way match must be checked in.

When double check is completed a three-way match should be recorded into the accounts payable account.

The process is now completed.