

The following text is about the account payable process. It begins with the entry of purchase order details.

When the purchase order field is completed, you need to create a receiver report.

When a receiving report is created one or more of the following paths should be executed: reporting errors to the relevant team member; acquiring the vendors invoice.

The next tasks should then be storing in paid invoice file and rescheduling the payment. They should be done in parallel.

The process is now completed.
